BOLD BANK ROBBERY

The South Bend National Bank—
glarized of $15,900.

IT OCCURRED IN DAYLIGHT.

While the Officials Were at Dinner the Thieves Gained an Entrance in the Building, Robbed the Vaults and Made Their Escape and Are Still at Large—No Clue to the Robbers.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 8.—The South Bend National bank, one of the largest and most sound banks in northern Indiana, was robbed of over $15,000 yesterday. The bold deed was committed in broad daylight, while hundreds of people were on the street, and the robbers succeeded in getting away with their rich booty without leaving the slightest clue.

Chief Benjamin Rose was at once informed and set his officers at work immediately, but up to this hour no clue of any reliance has been obtained. Every train or other means of leaving the city is carefully watched and officers hope to obtain some tangible clue soon. Chief Rose believes they were no less than four men in the gang and possibly more.

Cashier Myron Campbell remained at the bank, which is in the heart of the city, until all the employees were gone. He then, as he supposed, locked the middle door of the big vault, and left everything in the usual shape at the noon recess. It was 15 minutes after 12 o'clock when he left. At 10 minutes of 1 he returned, entering by the front street door. He passed down the corridor alongside the cashiers, collectors and other desks, and turned to his left to enter the door opening back of this line of continuous desks.

As he was about to enter the door his foot struck a chisel. He picked it up, but thought nothing of the matter, as the plumb line had been in the building and had passed by where he found the chisel, he thinking they had dropped it. Ten minutes later Assistant Cashier John M. Brown arrived and Mr. Campbell showed him the chisel. Mr. Brown's suspicions were aroused to such an extent that an investigation was immediately instituted.

The men found a rear window open, the back door unlocked and the door between the directors' room and the countingroom mutilated. A rush was then made for the vault. The door was as Mr. Campbell left it. They swung it back and examined the safe within. A glance showed that money had been taken but they could not tell how much. The police were at once notified.

Business went on about as usual and no particular effort was made to determine the exact amount until the day's balances were made up, when it developed that the robbers had secured $15,900.

There is little doubt but the bank has been watched for several days, perhaps weeks. It is located on North Michigan street and has an immense plateglass front. The cashier is located less than 10 feet from the front door and his desk, books and currency are always in plain sight.

From across the street one can see clear through to the directors' room and all over the countingroom, the doors being in plain view. At the doors and windows are heavy curtains, but these were up at the time of the robbery and every portion of the large countingroom was fully exposed, with a stream of people continually passing on either side of the street.

North of the bank, and surrounded on three sides by a good sized yard, is the First National bank. Two steps lead up to a wide portico in front of the latter bank, and from it across to the north wall of the first named bank building is an iron fence. As soon as Cashier Campbell was out of sight the robbers walked on the First National's portico, stepped on the fence, jumped down into the snow and made a straight line for the rear of the bank, back of which is a high board fence.

A window was then pried open, giving admission to the directors' room. The wood and glass door between this and the countingroom was pried open and a raid began on the vault. As stated, Cashier Campbell locked this or thought he did. It is now pretty certain that in turning the combination knob of the middle door, the one depended on at the noon hour, he did not turn it far enough to scatter the tumblers. By mere chance the robbers happened to turn this the right way to unlock the door.

The raid was well planned as is shown by the fact that the robbers touched no money that would be at once missed. On top of the safe was a counter tray containing about $5,000. Not a dollar of this was touched. They confined themselves to the safe which contained in the neighborhood of $25,000, $14,000 being gold. Of the gold only $4,000 was taken, the rest of the $15,900 stolen was in paper money; none in all. On the cashier's desk was quite a sum of change, but nothing was touched.

The robbers then closed the vault door, to allay suspicion, and left by the back door, which they unlocked, leaving the rear of the building as they had approached it. The chisel is the only object that appears to have been used. It is made of steel, purchased from a local dealer four days ago. There is every reason to believe that the robbery was the work of professionals, as the preparations were perfect and the men were probably fully armed for action if caught in a tight place.

Assistant Cashier J. E. Kelley of the First National bank resides in the rear of the latter bank. The windows in his home give a full view of the window through which entrance was gained to the robbed bank. About the hour of the robbery a man called him out to purchase potatoes, ostensibly, but it is thought to attract his attention while the robbers were effecting an entrance. Fresh footprints back of the big board fence show that some one watched from that quarter, which is almost under the shadow of the police station.

Indictments Delayed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 8.—The federal grand jury adjourned until Dec. 18, without returning any indictments against the Indianapolis National bank officials. The judge cautioned the jury to observe the utmost secrecy. It has been hinted that the delay was altogether unnecessary and was occasioned by the desire to shield persons likely to be indicted by giving them an opportunity to patch up whatever criminal acts they may have committed. Such hints as these have led to various rumors and have caused newspapers to make assertions which they would have difficulty in substantiating. The delay is explained on the ground that the preparation of the indictments is not yet completed.

Dry Goods Merchant Assigns.

ANDERSON, Ind., Dec. 8.—R. P. Grimes, the oldest dry goods merchant of this city, made a voluntary assignment yesterday, naming W. T. Durbin of the Citizens' bank as receiver. Irwin & Company, Indianapolis, $15,000; Citizens' bank, $8,000; Cleveland creditors, $3,000, and $3,000 to local parties.

Money by the Sackful.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 8.—Joseph Deitch, an aged Hebrew, died Monday. Yesterday $94,000 in gold was found concealed in his bedroom. Money by the sackful was carted off to the bank. The Union Trust company took charge of the estate and gave bond for $200,000 for personal property alone. Deitch gave largely to benevolent institutions, after providing in his will for a $20,000 monument in the Hebrew cemetery.

Neglected Wife Sues a Saloonkeeper.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Dec. 8.—Mrs. Julius Hitzfeld has filed a suit in the circuit court against John Telesch, claiming $3,000 damages. Telesch is a saloonkeeper, and Mrs. Hitzfeld alleges that her husband was a customer and that Telesch made a drunkard out of him, causing him to squander his wealth and neglect his family. A similar suit some time ago in this city court was won by the defendant.

A Young Woman Murdered.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Julius Huff, a young woman employed in the family of M. H. McArthur on Franklin avenue, was murdered early yesterday evening in front of the house by a man with whom she had been walking. He suddenly turned upon her and cut her throat from ear to ear.

SANE MAN IN AN ASYLUM.

He Is Released on Habeas Corpus Proceedings After Three Days.

LIMA, O., Dec. 8.—There is thought to be a mystery connected with the taking of L. J. Shockey, a prominent business man of this city, to the Toledo asylum last Saturday evening. Dr. Tobey, the superintendent of that institution, and his assistant, Dr. Creps, sent immediate word to the friends of Mr. Shockey, at Lima, saying they could discover no trace or semblance of insanity in Shockey.

The patient himself also sent urgent word to the law firm of Ridenour & Halford, asking them to institute legal proceedings for his release. Mr. Ridenour went to Toledo and caused a writ of habeas corpus to be issued by the probate court.

Mr. Shockey, and also the attendants and physicians in charge of the asylum, were brought before the court, and, after hearing the testimony, the court discharged him. He returned home last night.

A CANAL DISPUTE.

Attorney General Settles It In Favor of State Commissioners.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8.—Attorney General Richards has rendered an opinion which will settle a cause of dispute between the state board of public works and the canal commissioners. Each body claims exclusive jurisdiction over the berms, banks and towpaths of the canals which are in unlawful possession of private parties.

The commission some time since found that the Cincinnati and Middletown railroad has no right to use the berm bank of the Miami and Erie canal as a portion of its right of way, but the board of public works nevertheless gave the railroad a permit to use the state's property.

Yesterday afternoon the attorney general decided that the canal commission has exclusive jurisdiction in the matter; that the board of public works cannot give a permit to anyone to use state property to which he has no legal title.

This prize, they claimed, was represented by a firm and six horses. Tickets were disposed of at $1 a piece. It is claimed the farm and horses were not worth one-tenth the $50,000. Letters were sent through the mails advertising the scheme, and the men were arrested.

A daughter attempted to rescue him and was also overcome by the gas. Another daughter gave the alarm and the fire was extinguished and father and daughter rescued. Mr. Reibold's condition is serious. He is a brother of the proprietor of the Hotel Bates, Indianapolis.

The Hocking mines are paralyzed by reason of the fact that Pittsburgh coal is sold below the figures agreed to by the Ohio coal combine. One of three things must be done, advance wages in Pennsylvania, reduce them in Ohio, or let the combine go to pieces, and let the Ohio dealers sell as they can.

GOSHEN, Ind., Dec. 8.—Governor Matthews is still determined to permit no prize fighting at Roby. SENATE AND HOUSE.

But Very Little Business Done in Either Branch of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The proceedings of the senate were devoid of interest. The most important occurrence was the announcement by Mr. Hill of New York that on Friday next he would move to take up the bill repealing the federal election laws.

Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) gave notice that when the subject was before the senate he should move to refer the bill reported by Mr. Hill to the committee on privileges and elections.

Mr. Morrill (Rep., Vt.) offered the following resolution: "That all parts of the president's message relating to the tariff, internal revenue and income tax, together with that relating to those who, it is said, after a hard struggle for tariff reform are solemnly pledged to it, be referred to the committee on finance."

After a brief discussion the resolution was agreed to.

The following bills were also passed:

House bill to amend the railroad land grant forfeiture acts.

Senate bill granting to the state of North Dakota the use of its militia certain lands heretofore set apart as a wood reservation for Fort Totten military reservation.

Senate bill granting a pension of $100 per month to Frances Corse, widow of General John M. Corse, was taken from the calendar and passed.

On motion of Mr. Walthall, the senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business, after which it adjourned until Monday.

In the House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—In the house Mr. Cannon of California presented for immediate consideration a resolution instructing the secretary of war to report to the house the greatest depth of water obtainable in the harbor of San Pedro, Cal., and an estimate of the cost. Under objection it was referred to committee.

The pending question, when the morning hour arrived, was the joint resolution for the appointment of a joint commission to investigate the rank, pay and other questions relating to the personnel of the navy.

Upon the announcement of the expiration of the morning hour, the house resolved itself into the committee of the whole for the further consideration of the bankruptcy bill. This was debated all afternoon, and at 5 o'clock the committee rose and the house adjourned.

GONE TO HONOLULU.

Minister Thurston Suddenly
Departs From Washington.

HIS MOVEMENTS MYSTERIOUS.

A Claim Made That He Is Only Going to San Francisco, but It Is Believed That He Will Go on to Honolulu to Advise With President Dole—He Was Not Given His Passport.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Minister Thurston, the representative of the provisional government of Hawaii, furnished the surprise in the Hawaiian affairs yesterday by quietly departing from the city for the west, and it is surmised that he is quite likely to go to Honolulu before returning to Washington. His secret departure excited considerable comment and there was much speculation as to its significance.

It can be stated, however, that his departure does not mean any break in the recognition this government heretofore has always accorded him as the accredited representative of the de facto government of Hawaii. Mr. Thurston was not given his passports, nor was there any interruption in the amenities which have been observed in the outer diplomatic relations between the minister and Secretary Gresham.

Before leaving Mr. Thurston and Secretary of Legation Hastings were both at the state department. They said they had been cordially received. Mr. Thurston, at this time, said nothing of his intention to leave the city to newspaper men who saw him, but went to his apartments and then took the 3:15 o'clock train on the Pennsylvania road for Chicago. Mrs. Thurston, his mother, and his young son remain in Washington, and the official status of the Hawaiian legation is continued with Mr. Hastings, the secretary acting as charge d'affaires.

From Chicago Mr. Thurston will go to San Francisco and his ultimate destination may be Honolulu, where he would have an opportunity to orally advise the Hawaiian government. When the attention of Secretary Hastings was called to the comment excited by Minister Thurston's sudden departure, he expressed surprise that the minister's movements should attract attention.

"If he has gone to Honolulu," said he, "we are not aware of it here, and he said nothing to me about it. He goes first to Chicago and then to San Francisco. Possibly he may see fit, when he reaches San Francisco, to sail for Hawaii, but that is mere conjecture. It is quite natural for him to go to San Francisco, as the Hawaiian government is taking an active part in the midwinter exposition, which soon opens there. Mr. Thurston called at the state department before leaving because this was the regular day of the week set for receiving the diplomatic corps."

While Mr. Hastings professes to know nothing of the minister's going to Honolulu, it is generally believed that an event such as the midwinter exposition would not take the minister away from Washington at this stage of Hawaiian affairs, though in view of the fact that he is interested in a cyclorama to be exhibited in San Francisco, it may be private business accounts for his journey.

Opinion is freely expressed that the action of the senate in calling on the president for the Hawaiian correspondence has enticed the minister that the subject will take care of itself in this country, and that his energies can be directed with best results in advising and helping the provisional government to hold their ground. The minister has been embarrassed by the slow methods of communication, and has feared that President Dole and the provisional authorities might submit to the queen's restoration before they were aware of the condition of public sentiment here.

If Mr. Thurston determines to leave San Francisco for Hawaii it will largely overcome the delays he has heretofore been subjected to, although he is not likely to reach Honolulu before the restoration, unless that event is long deferred. His departure from Washington does not affect Hawaiian diplomatic relations with the United States.

Three People Drowned.

EUREKA, Cal., Dec. 8.—News has just reached here of an accident Saturday by which three persons lost their lives. Captain Fowles, a middle-aged man, who lived in a cabin on the west side of Salt river, went with his young wife and little 4-year-old child to Table Bluff landing, a settlement on the coast, where they bought a load of provisions and started on the return journey. In some unknown manner their boats were capsized, and yesterday their lifeless bodies washed ashore near the mouth of the river.

Mine Fire Extinguished.

HAZLETON, Pa., Dec. 8.—The fire which broke out in the Crystal Ridge mine Tuesday night, is now under control, and an examination of the interior is being made. The slope is in worse condition than it was after the first fire. Then it required seven months to retimber and repair it. This time it will take possibly a year. The opening has caved in in many places, and it appears that the sides or the "rib" has been destroyed to a great extent. The loss, roughly estimated, will exceed $100,000.

Confessed to Forgery.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 8.—In the circuit court here Frank P. Searce, whose daring forgeries to the amount of $50,000 and his escape from the Fayette county jail, together with his capture in Chattanooga and return here, have made him famous, confessed himself guilty on one charge of forgery and was sentenced to a term of 10 years in the penitentiary.

Fair weather; slightly warmer;

B. H. TUSE of Carlisle is the new editor of the Sharpsburg World. The World will continue to make Democratic music.

An exchange says that members of Congress were impatient to get to work when that body convened this week. We all know how the Representatives do hate to loaf about and do nothing.

The custom seems to be rapidly obtaining of condemned murderers preaching their own funeral sermons from the gallows. We can not see that anything is gained by such an arrangement, except it be more time by the condemned. It should not be denied them, though, so long as the law is vindicated by an occasional hanging.

THERE was something manly, invigorating and inspiring about the game of football of years ago, when some of the players could send the ball almost a hundred yards at a kick, or way above the treecrogs; but how has it degenerated when they no longer kick but carry the ball. It should now have the name changed to football, as necks are frequently broken at the game.

Ex-Governor "Bob" Taylor.

Lexington Press: "The popularity of ex-Governor 'Bob' Taylor was never better demonstrated. On three previous occasions he has delivered in this city his famous lecture, and last night the opera house was packed up stairs and down stairs, with one of most cultivated audiences that ever gathered in this city. Governor Taylor's reception amounted to an ovation, and throughout his lecture the attention of his hearers was absolute. He made tears and laughter come in turn, and occasionally he launched into as beautiful a flight of oratory as ever fell from a lecturer's lips."

Those who fail to hear Mr. Taylor next Monday night will miss a treat.

Don't Want to Pay.

The Western Union Telegraph Company, through Louisville and Cincinnati attorneys, has brought suit in the United States District Court to enjoin the Auditor of Kentucky from collecting taxes on its franchise, the value of which is placed at $992,000 by the Board of Valuation. The company claims to be exempt from such a franchise tax, and should it be collected it would require 25 per cent. of its net income. The suit is the first notification of resistance of the collection of the franchise tax, as provided in the new revenue law.

"Faust" Again To-night.

The Labadie-Rowell Company gave an excellent rendition of "Faust" at the opera house last night. Some of the scenes in the spectacular line were the finest ever witnessed here. The company had a date for Wapakoneta, O., to-night, but found it would be impossible to reach there in time for a performance, and concluded to remain over in Maysville. They will repeat "Faust" at the opera house to-night. Tickets at Nelson's.

SOCIETY WOMEN BURGLARS.

A Woman and Her Daughter, Both of Excellent Reputation, Arrested for Stealing.

In an Adrian justice court sat two well dressed ladies. Both were comely and apparently refined. The air and dress of the women indicated that they belonged to the upper walks of life and were people of quality. The elder of the two, still below the middle age, sat erect and wore an air of defiance. The other, a young lady of real beauty and tastily attired, was bowed with an air of sorrow.

No one unacquainted with the circumstances would have suspected for a moment that these ladies were a pair of burglars whose work rivals that of some of the best men of the profession. But such was the case. They were mother and daughter—Mrs. Alice Church, a widow of excellent repute, residing in Tecumseh, a village of 2,000, 10 miles from Adrian, and Miss Bessie Church. They were under arrest charged with breaking into the residence of Editor S. C. Stacy of the Tecumseh Herald during the absence of the family and taking therefrom a feather bed, bedclothing, a big job lot of ladies' underwear, several pairs of shoes, a quantity of groceries, etc.

Entrance was effected in the night. Saturday morning the man about the premises noticed that a window had been forced, and investigating he found that the house had been ransacked and the front door key taken. Officers were notified, and as the absence of the key denoted an intended return of the burglars two men were stationed in the house that night. Near 11 o'clock the key softly turned in the lock, and the forms of two persons, apparently men, as they wore men's clothing, appeared. There was a sudden rush, a clashing of the intruders in strong arms and a terrific squabble, embellished with female screams. Astonishment caused one of the officers to let one of the burglars slip, and she fled. The other fought like a tigress and laid about right and left with what proved to be an insect powder spray loaded with cayenne pepper. One of her captors, Abner Wilson, "got it in the eye," but held his girl, and the prisoner was secured. Then she confessed her identity and "gave away" her daughter Bessie as the other burglar. Bessie was followed to her home and arrested.

"What do you plead?" asked the court as he took off his glasses after receiving the information. "We waive examination, sir," was the firm, clear and businesslike response of the elder prisoner. "I will make your bonds $500 each," rejoined the court. "Your honor, that is too high; it is excessive," again spoke the elder lady. "I must make it $500," said the court. "Very well, sir, but it is too high; I cannot get it; we must go to jail." The prisoners then signified to the officer that they were ready, and the rustle of the silk skirts of the burglars was heard moving down the stairs. They are in jail awaiting trial.

The affair is the greatest surprise and sensation Tecumseh has had in many a day, and society experiences a tremendous shock.—Chicago Tribune.

THE BATTLE OF FRANKLIN.

It Beat Them All For Terrific Fighting, (Is the Opinion of One Who Was Right in it.

The recent reunion of the survivors of the Sixteenth Kentucky at Flemingsburg has brought out many reminiscences of the battle of Franklin, Tenn. It was fought on November 30th, '64. It began at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and lasted until 10 o'clock. The fight took place on the plain in front of Franklin, where the Federal army lay heavily entrenched.

It was said to have been a magnificent spectacle to see Hood's army marching to the attack down a long, gentle decline, with banners flying and bands playing, in all the "pomp and circumstance of war."

What a change though when the battle was over! It was estimated that fifteen thousand dead and wounded men lay on the field, the very pick and flower of that splendid army.

Hood was a Kentuckian, a native of Montgomery County; a gallant, dashing soldier, but lacking prudence in the command of a large army.

Barney Mulligan, of General "Bill" Lytle's famous Irish regiment, used to tell how he saw hundreds of Confederates lying across the parapets brained with the butts of muskets. Time and again they returned to the attack, only to be hurled, bleeding and dying, back on their reserves.

Mulligan said he had been in many hard-fought battles, among them that of Chancellorsville, but Franklin beat them all for terrific fighting.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HENDRICK has delivered an opinion on the question of the validity of charging to the State school fund the contingent expenses of the Superintendent's Department, which includes the salaries and which annually in all will amount to about $7,000. If the Attorney General is correct it will result in decreasing the fund out of which all the expenses of the State government are paid, and for which the tax is only 15 cents, and increasing the school fund.

WAR IN EUROPE.

Several Countries Will Soon Be Involved.

IT WILL BE A DESPERATE ONE.

Russia Wants Constantinople and Is Preparing to Fight Both Germany and Austria Before Taking It—France Is Likely to Take a Part in the Struggle. Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Russian government has declared it imperative that the Kilia arm of the Danube river should be made navigable. This has served to attract renewed attention to the serious situation of affairs in Europe, a situation which would need only a spark to kindle the flame.

That the various countries are fully alive to the difficulties ahead of them there can be no doubt, and numerous incidents have come to light within the past few days which indicate that all the powers are making preparations to meet any emergency, whatever its proportions may be. In connection with these recent developments the statement made on the authority of the Westminster Gazette that five new battleships, a first class cruiser and a number of smaller vessels have been ordered to augment the British navy, is not without significance.

Russia wants Constantinople and is preparing to take it. Russia can not succeed in accomplishing this desire without first fighting Austria. She can not fight Austria without fighting Germany at the same time. Russia wants the mouth of the Danube, a desire as strange as if France should wish to re-occupy Louisiana. Russia, therefore, has one enemy particularly in mind, that is, Germany, and in this hatred of Germany was born the comical friendship between Russia and France, for France means to get back Alsace-Lorraine.

The gravity of the present outlook is not so much, in the fact that Russia and France individually dislike Germany, but in the fact that they are united in a hatred that absorbs every other passion. That France is thirsting for war admits of scant doubt to those who saw the delirious behavior of the French people in welcoming the Russian sailors at Toulon and Paris, nor is there any doubt that she is now better fitted for war than she has ever been. Russia sounded France and was well satisfied with the result. When war is declared the two are one, army and navy.

The Russian government has now massed all its active army west of Moscow and the great bulk in Poland. It is persecuting the German and the Lutheran religion in the Baltic provinces and is fanning, rather than allaying, the prevailing hatred for Germany.

Russia has been observing great secrecy of late with regard to movements on her railways. Sometimes several days have passed when all traffic on the roads has been stopped save that of the government. Oddly enough the money that she has been spending upon forts and stores has nearly all been expended against the German frontier. She knows that she must settle with Germany before she can get the Bosphorus.

The German emperor, meanwhile, is awake and knows what is passing about him, but he knows also that he has much to lose and little to gain by a successful campaign. German men of business feel this, too, and that the next war will be largely devoted to pulling chestnuts out of the fire for England. The Kaiser knows that in a war with Russia he will be fighting the battle of all civilized countries against a power representing commercial stagnation, political barbarism and religious intolerance.

New Explosive.
LONDON, Dec. 8.—A dispatch to The Daily News from Paris says: M. Picot, a Swiss engineer, has invented an explosive called fulgerite, which he claims possesses a power equal to dynamite and a greater power when it is used for gunpowder. It is smokeless and, according to the inventor, perfectly safe in handling. Its qualities are not impaired by weather or water, and it is cheaper to manufacture than dynamite. Experiments with the new explosive have been made at Thun, Switzerland, in the presence of military experts.

Rome, Dec. 8.—King Humbert has summoned Signor Crispi by telegraph. The run on the Banca Generale continues. Two of the directors of the institution have guaranteed to advance 4,000,000 lire to meet its difficulties. Crispi may be prime minister again.

English Masons.
LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Prince of Wales was nominated grand master of the English Free Masons. The nomination was greeted with the unanimous approval of 800 brethren who attended the grand lodge meeting presided over by the Earl of Edgumbe.

More Dynamite in Paris.
PARIS, Dec. 8.—A dynamite cartridge was exploded in the Place d'La Revolution. A number of houses were injured. The authorities have instituted an inquiry as to who was responsible for the explosion.

Homemade but Destructive.
DUBLIN, Dec. 8.—An analysis of the dynamite which was found recently in front of the Aldborough barracks shows that it was not of the usual sort. It was evidently homemade, but of a very destructive character.

Extension Advised.
LONDON, Dec. 8.—The Daily News learns that the report of Sir Gerald Portal, the British consul general for German East Africa, will advise the extension of the Zanzibar protectorate to include Uganda.

Congratulations.
BANGKOK, Dec. 8.—Queen Victoria has telegraphed to the King of Siam congratulating him upon his jubilee expressing a desire for the king's personal welfare and for the prosperity of his kingdom.

RAILROAD SCRAP IRON.

It Is Carefully Saved, Assorted, and Then Sold by the Companies.

Nothing goes to waste on a big railroad, and every scrap of iron and much secondhand material is valued at a fixed price and carried on the books as so much stock on hand. The system followed by the storekeeper's department of one railroad is a sample of many. The secondhand metals are gathered and placed in piles, regularly assorted.

Then they are classified by the foreman and taken into stock by the storekeeper or assistant. There are regular schedules—one of material which can be used again, which is denominated secondhand, and another of material which has to be melted before it can be used, which is known as scrap.

The classes are arranged something after the following order: Steel scrap, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, at prices ranging from $28 a ton down; wrought iron, Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4; cast iron, Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4. Even borings are taken into account, brass borings being credited at eight cents per pound and brass scrap and copper at twelve.

This material is shipped to division headquarters when a carload has accumulated. Here it is disposed of by the storekeeper on order of his chief, being shipped in carloads to big dealers in old metals in large cities. Much of it goes to Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and such points. Orders for as high as 500,000 pounds of one kind of material are occasionally received from single firms. Most of the secondhand material is used over again in the shops, but it is previously taken on the books at a fixed price by the storekeeper and is charged up to the account of the articles for which it is used. All usable No. 1 wrought iron is received and charged up at 14 cents a pound, and cast iron at one cent.—Philadelphia Call.

Cannibalism in Saghalien.

The Vladivostok, a newspaper published in eastern Siberia, reveals a terrible state of affairs among the convicts on the island of Saghalien. It would appear that the convicts there have been treated by some of the subordinate prison authorities so harshly that the governor of the island has been obliged to interfere for their protection.

A warder named Khanoff and some of his assistants, who at one time were convicts themselves and had been raised to the rank of jailers, have been removed from their posts. Khanoff's treatment of the prisoners was so abominable that a number of them crippled themselves, cutting off fingers and toes, in order to be treated as invalids and to be freed from his terrible cruelties. Others fled to the impenetrable forest, where they suffered all the horrors of hunger.

In a satchel belonging to a fugitive convict who had been hunted down were found some pieces of human flesh. Investigation revealed that this man had been one of a party of four, and that only one of them now remained. The others had been killed and devoured by their comrades. Similar cases of cannibalism are, according to the Siberian journal, not infrequent.

In Frozen Russia.

In Russia, where the cold is very intense, the markets are very curious things. The meat is frozen; the carcasses of dead animals, as sheep and pigs, stand upright outside the stalls; everything, even game and poultry, requires to be thawed before it can be cooked, and the market people's dress is as picturesque as it is warm and comfortable.

Then the rivers are frozen over all the winter long, and so thick is the ice that every one can skate, anywhere and any time. Stalls are put up on the ice and busy markets held there.

In the Asiatic part of Russia the people live chiefly by hunting and fishing, and the fur of the Russian animals is very beautiful—the ermine, fox, sable, sea otter and others.

At the end of the winter, when the snow melts, the huntsman pursues the elk, wearing long shoes, in which he can glide over the snow very quickly, while the poor elk sinks into the snow deeper and deeper every step and is at last overtaken and killed.—Good Words.

A Widow.

Our house servant is a Japanese, polite as are most of his race. Among his duties is taking care of the chickens. One day he chanced to find a nest of five eggs at the barn, away from the chicken yard, contributed by a hen that had escaped from the others, and as a consequence the eggs were not fertile. In ignorance of this fact, however, an old lady of our household—a widow—immediately put a hen to "set" on them. Bidly stuck to business, but to no purpose. When the required time had more than elapsed, the lady was very much put out and puzzled that no chickens had been hatched. Turning to the Jap, she said, "What do you suppose is the matter of those eggs, George?" George (bowing low): "Excuse me, ma'am, excuse me, but I think [bows again], I think that hen was a widow." Widow satisfied.—California Review.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A LEWIS COUNTY farmer attached his name to a slip of paper just to accommodate a stranger, and it turned up the next day in the hands of one of his neighbors as a promissory note for $100.

BURIED ALIVE.

A Horrifying Story Coming From Western Indiana.

BRAZIL, Ind., Dec. 8.—William Cole, while engaged at work some days ago in the rolling mills, fell, striking his head against a car wheel, causing what was supposed instant death. However, his body kept unusually warm until the morning before the funeral, when, it is claimed, it became cold and no signs of life were apparent.

The body was laid away before his relatives, residing in Ohio and Pennsylvania, could be notified, as the relatives of the dead man living here could not locate their eastern relatives. However, they were subsequently notified of Mr. Cole's death, and several of them arrived in the city yesterday and proceeded to disinter the body to take a farewell look. When the coffin was opened it is said that a ghastly sight met his friends' gaze. Cole had regained consciousness, and in his struggle for liberty had turned over in his coffin. It was also asserted that his face was distorted, showing that he had struggled fearfully before being smothered.

Several physicians were hastily summoned to the new palace at Potsdam to attend him. The dispatch adds that he has now recovered. The crown prince is only 11 years and 7 months old.

Village Fire.

MARION, Ill., Dec. 8.—The business portion of the town of Cren Springs, 10 miles south of here, was destroyed by fire. The losses aggregate $50,000, and the insurance will reach about two-thirds of that sum. Among the property destroyed was The Herald printing office, the bank and several general stores.
